Virtual Meeting Zoom Chat Comments:

April 9th, 2024

Steven Whitmore, LMSW, School Social Work Consultant at Oakland Schools

13:40:45 I have two comments:

Regarding the proposed School Social Work Certification Code Changes

13:41:46 There are a number of school social workers right now in Public Schools that are concerned about the lack of professional recognition of the term “school social worker” for those social workers who do not have a special education caseload, but service only students in general education. For general education students, there is a concern that either non-trained school-related social workers or other student staff will be brought in to service students without the understanding, training and/or expertise that school social workers provide. This might lead to appropriate services being provided for students and/or possibly a lack of recognition of when special educations might be needed.

13:42:02 From Steven Whitmore to Everyone:

Additionally, we are concerned about non-qualified social work personnel (or others without appropriate credentials) being used for eligibility consideration for eligibility other than ASD and EI.

13:42:16 From Steven Whitmore to Everyone:

Re- R340.1004:

Regarding the need for 75 education-related professional learning hours needed in a five-year period. I would like to propose that the policies allow for those appropriate LARA approved professional learning continuing education courses to be allowed without the need for additional payment for these courses in the MOECs system. There might be undue hardship for those having to pay for a continuing education program, paying an additional fee for the LARA credits themselves and then paying another fee for SCECH type credits.

Shelly		Bailey	4/21/2024 21:41	To maintain our License we are already required to complete 45 hours in 3 years. We have to take more schooling and now continuing education. But our pay is the same. Teachers sketches do not have the strict requirements as social workers. We play a vital role, are required more schooling, but do not get the credit for it.
Alexandra		Ball	4/10/2024 9:02	Under R 340.1002 Individuals required to hold school social worker credential, it outlines a school social worker as someone who provides social work services to students with a disability on an IEP. I am curious how the title changes for a school social worker who meets the requirements for full approval to work in schools but they work with general education students. If they primarily work with general education students, how does that affect the professionals' title? By not recognizing these professionals as school social workers, it minimizes and devalues the work done with the rest of the school population.
Sara		Berlin	4/19/2024 11:12	As a school social worker that previously worked in Detroit Public Schools Community District. I support the plan for having a specialized certification. However as I'm currently still in a school, but in a different role, I would like to see provisions for grandfathering in current full approved social workers so they can maintain their credentials. As well as provisions for those who may not be in that direct role or may transfer between roles in their career experiences.

Sara		Berlin	4/19/2024 11:12	For current certification, you are asking for SCHEPS. Many social workers do not receive 75 when in a school. Is there a way to tie in CEs required as a way to gain the 75 hours? SCHEPS are not normally dedicated to our roles and lack appropriate continuing education that is relevant.
Tracy	L	Bullock	4/19/2024 9:37	I oppose this change.
Carolyn		Clark	4/19/2024 13:54	Regarding the suggestion that SSW will need to earn and pay for an additional 75 clock hours of continuing education, this is concerning to me since there are rarely, if ever, professional development offerings within the district that are relevant to school social workers. While we can always look for offerings in the summer, it may be difficult to meet this standard during the school year. There are no substitutes to serve in our roles if we are away from our buildings like there are for teachers, so our work essentially piles up on days in PD. Thanks for your considerations!
Candice		Cook	4/20/2024 7:24	I support this change with revisions.
Stephanie		Conflitti	4/19/2024 18:52	Why would you need extra credits when we already have CEUs to pay for? Seems excessive in a field where money is not plentiful
Gabrielle	L	Fessenger	4/20/2024 11:27	I oppose this change.

Alonda		Fletcher	4/19/2024 10:58	R 340.1011 Role of school social worker. Specifics should be addressed regarding case load. In a typical urban school setting 1 social worker can be responsible for 35-60 students. This number is unattainable and often often leads to non-compliance for IEP services. A reasonable case load should be no more than 25. Teachers have a cap for student roster as should social worker. Principals often add *other responsibilities to the social worker as they deem fit. Those responsibilities could range from truancy-facilitating Adopt-a-family for Christmas. Principals should not have the flexibility to add unrestricted responsibilities to social workers.
Maia		Gleason-Teener	4/19/2024 21:17	I oppose the proposal to add additional CE requirements for school social workers. These requirements, that come as an ADDITION to the regular social work CEUs that we just complete, put an undue time and financial burden on school social workers.
Maia		Gleason-Teener	4/19/2024 21:17	I oppose the proposal to add additional CEU requirements for school social workers. We should have some freedom to include school-related CEUs as part of the 45 hours required for all social workers.
Cari	R	Griffin	4/19/2024 12:07	As a current LMSW, I am concerned that the requirement of managing both the 45 CE's to maintain my current LMSW through LARA and then having to meet the requirement in addition to the 75 hours every 5 years through a different system will require a significant increase in the financial burden for school social workers. If this is going to occur, I would want to make sure that there is a way for any CE approved professional development hours (for licensure) would be also count for SCHEH's. I would want to make sure this is integrated for a more smooth coordination.

Maureen		Gumbel	4/10/2024 11:00	Licensed social workers with a certificate to practice school social work should be allowed to call themselves "social workers" in a school setting when servicing general education students (not just for special education).
Kristina	M	Hughes	4/12/2024 10:11	I oppose to the following proposed rule change.R 340.1017 Use of title "school social worker." Rule 7. Only those persons approved by the department of education as school socialworkers, in accordance with these rules, shall use that title.I am currently the school social worker for students in my building, this includes IEP's, 504 plan's and students that are not under the IDEA umbrella. This proposed rule change would marginalize the role of school social workers that support "general education" students only. Additionally, this will continue to enforce the false narrative that general education social workers are not as qualified. As a school social worker, I have completed all the requirements to obtain the school social work certificate. This certificate should NOT be revoked if I am working non special education students. I strongly encourage you to think about the long term ramifications this would have on the school social work profession.
Ellen		Karafa	4/19/2024 11:06	LMSW are already required to have 45 continuing education hours to renew their licensed. adding 75 MORE additional training seems like a lot, I would propose that these coincide with each other or at least have many that can overlap

Jennifer		Makowski	4/19/2024 21:47	The proposed rule would essentially double the yearly average amount of continuing education requirements for school social workers without compensation, who are supporting the most challenging behaviors and needs in the school setting. As a school social worker, I already acquire educationally relevant CEs in conjunction with the requirements for licensure through LARA. I acquire educationally relevant social work CEs to be relevant with my current career setting, based on the needs of my students. Requiring additional CEs would require us to be out of our buildings more often, away from the special education students we service. Public school employees are already grossly underpaid and requiring additional CEs with financial responsibility falling on the school social worker may cause those professionals to seek alternative employment that does not require additional CEs at their expense. This change should be heavily considered as unnecessary.
Beth		Marra	4/19/2024 15:50	The additional continuing education requirements are unnecessary while social workers are already completing ceu hours for state licensure. Having these two requirements on different timelines is confusing. This additional burden will hinder social workers from entering schools, which are facing a critical shortage. These additional credits will cost money in one of the lower paying areas of social work.

Sarah		Mignano	4/19/2024 13:49	I reject the need for 75 continuing education hours every 5 years unless schools are required to provide all 75 of those hours as they provide hours for teachers. Social workers are already required to maintain our professional licenses primarily through courses and CEUs that we pay for on our own. There is already a shortage of school social workers. Do not make it harder to work in the schools.
Maleah		Montney	4/20/2024 9:33	Michigan is in dire need of school social workers. The proposed changes only create more barriers to fulfilling those vacant job roles by making it harder for social workers to meet the State's requirements. Social workers should not be financially penalized.

Elizabeth	G	Niedowicz	4/12/2024 19:57	I want to make sure that school social work does not limit the school social work title to ONLY school social workers working with special education students. School social workers has a comprehensive training on the needs of students as well as being able to evaluate the students needs. I am a general education school social worker. I evaluate for functional behavioral assessment as well as 504 plans. I evaluate the needs of the school as well. Please be mindful that limited to exclusively to special education minimizes the work of general education school social workers. It will not be ethically appropriate to let anyone LMSW or LLMSW do those evaluations without specific training. I love being a general education school social worker. I don't want to lose my title because I work with ALL students. Since covid the need of general education school social worker is needed to bridges the gaps between special education and students struggling socially, emotionally, and/or behaviorally without impact their education due to a disability. Some students struggle socially such as family or environmental issues. Please again consider revising social social workers working with only special education students. We do so much more!
-----------	---	-----------	--------------------	---

Christian	D	Olson	4/19/2024 12:44	Currently, SW must complete 45 hours to obtain their LMSW - to put the extra burden of an ADDITIONAL 75 hours that are "educational" related makes little to no sense. Social Workers focus on socio-emotional, behavioral, and mental health concerns. We are NOT experts in education - other than helping students with the barriers to access the curriculum. Why there is a need for more training makes no sense. No other professional is required to have competing professional development requirements. In addition, there are social workers in our schools who work with students identified as requiring special education and those who do not. There are also school social workers who only work with general education students - why put a barrier between the two? It is obvious that those making these recommended changes have little to no experience in the schools and see what staff have to deal with. Educational trainings have little to nothing to do with what SW do on a day-to-day basis in the school. I vehemently oppose these changes.
Sarah		Prendergast	4/19/2024 14:11	Requiring SSWs to acquire and track SCECHs on TOP of our CEUs places an unnecessary burden on social workers. We are already required to obtain our Master's, pass a licensure exam, and maintain our license by obtaining specific CEUs requested by the licensing board. This rule is being requested by someone who by no doubt has no idea regarding the day to day demands of a social worker. I respectfully ask you to reconsider.
Carly		Salisbury	4/19/2024 20:38	Social workers are already highly educated and require a lot of CEU to maintain licenses. Forcing an additional 75 hours of training is unreasonable and way too expensive.

Carly		Salisbury	4/20/2024 20:38	I oppose requiring a separate license and even more training than CEUs that are already required.
Meranda		Schroeder	4/12/2024 18:05	Michigan is in dire need of school social workers. The proposed changes only create more barriers to fulfilling those vacant job roles by making it harder for social workers to meet the State's requirements. Social workers should not be financially penalized by having to pay more just to do their job nor should they have additional CE requirements to fulfill their duties. Special education is an extremely difficult field as it is. Adding more requirements will deter social workers entirely. We are underpaid, deal with the most intense needs under restrictions and laws that don't have our students best interests in mind. We have no caseload limits and are expected to evaluate AND service an unlimited number of students while being available for crisis intervention AND somehow manage to complete additional training requirements? What does education based training mean? Most social workers that I know are taking classes specifically to meet mental health/behavioral needs for students in schools and/or the latest classroom behavior management strategies to then educate our educators. Our special education system and even general education system is broken. These changes are only going to prevent schools from filling already difficult to fill vacancies in a post-pandemic society where our children- our future- are facing behavior and mental health crisis at unprecedented rates.
Melissa		Smith	4/10/2024 9:43	Changing the qualifications and role/title of a school social worker is opposed

Melissa		Smith	4/10/2024 9:43	School Social Worker should not be categorized based on the population they work with (i.e. special education versus general education). It should be more focused on type of service (i.e. mental health support, social/emotional skill building, behavioral support) and certification for title protection.
Melissa		Smith	4/19/2024 11:26	Re- R340.1004:It seems unfair and unnecessary that school social workers should have to complete 45 hours of CE in a 3 year cycle (plus 3 additional hours for Implicit Racial Bias which we now have to also pay for each cycle) in addition to keeping track of and/or paying for 75 other credits within 5 years. I am strongly opposed to this change and I think most social workers are unaware of the proposed change and will also be upset once they learn of this. Not only is this a burden to our time but also will add a financial burden for a profession which already experiences financial burden. I am begging you not to implement this additional requirement.
Melissa		Smith	4/10/2024 9:43	changes appear to minimize the specialization of school social workers
Melissa		Smith	4/10/2024 9:43	Social workers should not have to do SCECHs in addition to our social work continuing ed.

Melissa		Smith	4/19/2024 11:26	The proposed rule change regarding differentiating between "school social workers" as the only ones working with special education students and being required to pay for and keep track of 75 educational CEs in addition to our regular LMSW CE payments and requirements, will result in no one wanting to be a "school social worker" anymore working with special education. You will not be paid more and the workload as well as requirements are too great and will now be very unreasonable, unfair, and unwanted.
Rebecca		Smith	4/13/2024 12:19	I support these changes with minor revisions.
Alexandra		Stieve	4/19/2024 16:40	Social workers are required to maintain licensure, which includes credits about schools, continually until they let their license expire. In other words, we are already required to get yearly credits (while also proving we are getting them), in the event of an audit from LARA. I don't find it reasonable or acceptable to put this extra burden on already overwhelmed and understaffed school social work departments. If a district deems a social worker (whom they hired) in need of extra training, that's on them to provide the individual support and plan to make that a reality. Otherwise, again, your putting an additional burden on a profession that carries plenty. Lastly, we are an aging profession, and I feel this will expedite retirements to an extent that will leave lasting affects.
Holly	K	Triestram	4/20/2024 8:28	If this information is accurate it is above and beyond what we need (and not free of charge) to work as a school social worker. We are struggling to fill the roles of ssw in our schools. This change, if accurate will make filling those positions less likely.

Holly	K	Triestram	4/20/2024 8:28	This change of earning 75 additional continuing Ed credits on top of the 45 that we already need for our license creates a hardship for school social workers. This position is already at a great need and will cause us to have more difficulty filling school social work positions. Continuing education credits also are not free.
Holly	K	Triestram	4/20/2024 8:28	I am learning today on Facebook that we now have to earn 75 CEU credits every 5 years on top of the 45 CEUs that we need for our license. Is this information correct?
Karla		Vandenberg	4/8/2024 15:26	R 340.1001 Definitions e) "Education-related professional learning" (i) Satisfactory college semester credit hours at an accredited college or university, with 1 semester credit hour being equivalent to 25 education-related professional learning hours. (ii) State continuing education clock hours. (iii) Michigan annual district provided professional development hours ¹) How will these be tracked, monitored and uploaded to MOECS? The system is not currently set up to upload social work continuing education credits which are often not provided by District Provided Professional Development. Will a combination of schechs from DPPD and social work ce's be allowed for the 75 hours? Will there be a minimum/maximum assigned between each?R 340.1003 Preliminary school social worker certificate. (3) The superintendent of public instruction shall issue no more than 1 renewal of a preliminary school social worker certificate. 2) It is unclear what other requirements are needed to move to the professional certificate. Is it the same as now, after completion of one full year? The language needs to be clear.

Diana		Wheatley	4/9/2024 14:37	As a school social worker I appreciate the time and attention being given to examining the rules for School Social Work. It is my hope that while districts could hire any Master's level Social Worker, one with a unique understanding of school culture and climate would be preferred. At the very least it is my hope that school districts would strongly encourage collaboration between administrators, school social workers, and any other social workers hired in order to best serve the community's children.
Steven	P	Whitmore	4/10/2024 8:11	I believe that the term "school Social Worker" should apply to those who work in general education solo. General education social workers who work in schools need to understand the special education process so that they know when and how to access those who might need special education services.

Steven	P	Whitmore	4/10/2024 8:11	Note: I had written this in the Comments during the April 9 meeting, but I had a typo: I have two comments: Regarding the proposed School Social Work Certification Code Changes There are a number of school social workers right now in Public Schools that are concerned about the lack of professional recognition of the term “school social worker” for those social workers who do not have a special education caseload, but service only students in general education. For general education students, there is a concern that either non-trained school-related social workers or other student staff will be brought in to service students without the understanding, training and/or expertise that school social workers provide. This might lead to inappropriate services being provided for students and/or possibly a lack of recognition of when special educations might be needed. Additionally, we are concerned about non-qualified social work personnel (or others without appropriate credentials) being used for eligibility consideration for eligibility other than ASD and EI.
--------	---	----------	-------------------	--

Valerie		Zager	4/19/2024 11:39	I strongly oppose the proposed addition of 75 education-related professional learning hours as a new requirement school social workers because this will even further deter social workers who are your licensed mental health professionals to consider working in school /educational settings. Having to pay for and spend more time learning about educational information after already getting a masters plus degree and staying up to date with relevant mental health field related training and on going education already requires a lot. This proposed new requirement is irrelevant to our field given our background and work with students. Is this proposed to schools occupational and physical therapists as well? Our district has been short 4 social workers all year. The schools need to consider ways to gain and retain professionals not add another unnecessary hurdle.

Under R 340.1002 Individuals required to hold school social worker credential, it outlines a school social worker as someone who provides social work services to students with a disability on an IEP. I am curious how the title changes for a school social worker who meets the requirements for full approval to work in schools but they work with general education students. If they primarily work with general education students, how does that affect the professionals' title? By not recognizing these professionals as school social workers, it minimizes and devalues the work done with the rest of the school population.

As a school social worker that previously worked in Detroit Public Schools Community District. I support the plan for having a specialized certification. However as I'm currently still in a school, but in a different role, I would like to see provisions for grandfathering in current full approved social workers so they can maintain their credentials. As well as provisions for those who may not be in that direct role or may transfer between roles in their career experiences.

For current certification, you are asking for SCHEPS. Many social workers do not receive 75 when in a school. Is there a way to tie in CEs required as a way to gain the 75 hours? SCHEPS are not normally dedicated to our roles and lack appropriate continuing education that is relevant.

Regarding the suggestion that SSW will need to earn and pay for an additional 75 clock hours of continuing education, this is concerning to me since there are rarely, if ever, professional development offerings within the district that are relevant to school social workers. While we can always look for offerings in the summer, it may be difficult to meet this standard during the school year. There are no substitutes to serve in our roles if we are away from our buildings like there are for teachers, so our work essentially piles up on days in PD. Thanks for your considerations!

R 340.1011 Role of school social worker. Specifics should be addressed regarding case load. In a typical urban school setting 1 social worker can be responsible for 35-60 students. This number is unattainable and often often leads to non-compliance for IEP services. A reasonable case load should be no more than 25. Teachers have a cap for student roster as should social worker. Principals often add *other responsibilities to the social worker as they deem fit. Those responsibilities could range from truancy-facilitating Adopt-a-family for Christmas. Principals should not have the flexibility to add unrestricted responsibilities to social workers.

As a current LMSW, I am concerned that the requirement of managing both the 45 CE's to maintain my current LMSW through LARA and then having to meet the requirement in addition to the 75 hours every 5 years through a different system will require a significant increase in the financial burden for school social workers. If this is going to occur, I would want to make sure that there is a way for any CE approved professional development hours (for licensure) would be also count for SCHEH's. I would want to make sure this is integrated for a more smooth coordination.

Q9. * Please enter your comments below. When applicable, please reference the specific sections of the rule that are objectionable and/or require modification.

I oppose to the following proposed rule change. R 340.1017 Use of title "school social worker." Rule 7. Only those persons approved by the department of education as school social workers, in accordance with these rules, shall use that title. I am currently the school social worker for students in my building, this includes IEP's, 504 plan's and students that are not under the IDEA umbrella. This proposed rule change would marginalize the role of school social workers that support "general education" students only. Additionally, this will continue to enforce the false narrative that general education social workers are not as qualified. As a school social worker, I have completed all the requirements to obtain the school social work certificate. This certificate should NOT be revoked if I am working non special education students. I strongly encourage you to think about the long term ramifications this would have on the school social work profession.

Oppose the proposed rule change entirely ▼

Q9. * Please enter your comments below. When applicable, please reference the specific sections of the rule that are objectionable and/or require modification.

The proposed rule would essentially double the yearly average amount of continuing education requirements for school social workers without compensation, who are supporting the most challenging behaviors and needs in the school setting. As a school social worker, I already acquire educationally relevant CEs in conjunction with the requirements for licensure through LARA. I acquire educationally relevant social work CEs to be relevant with my current career setting, based on the needs of my students. Requiring additional CEs would require us to be out of our buildings more often, away from the special education students we service. Public school employees are already grossly underpaid and requiring additional CEs with financial responsibility falling on the school social worker may cause those professionals to seek alternative employment that does not require additional CEs at their expense. This change should be heavily considered as unnecessary.

The additional continuing education requirements are unnecessary while social workers are already completing ceu hours for state licensure. Having these two requirements on different timelines is confusing. This additional burden will hinder social workers from entering schools, which are facing a critical shortage. These additional credits will cost money in one of the lower paying areas of social work.

I reject the need for 75 continuing education hours every 5 years unless schools are required to provide all 75 of those hours as they provide hours for teachers. Social workers are already required to maintain our professional licenses primarily through courses and CEUs that we pay for on our own. There is already a shortage of school social workers. Do not make it harder to work in the schools.

I want to make sure that school social work does not limit the school social work title to ONLY school social workers working with special education students. School social workers has a comprehensive training on the needs of students as well as being able to evaluate the students needs. I am a general education school social worker. I evaluate for functional behavioral assessment as well as 504 plans. I evaluate the needs of the school as well. Please be mindful that limited to exclusively to special education minimizes the work of general education school social workers. It will not be ethically appropriate to let anyone LMSW or LLMSW do those evaluations without specific training. I love being a general education school social worker. I don't want to lose my title because I work with ALL students. Since covid the need of general education school social worker is needed to bridges the gaps between special education and students struggling socially, emotionally, and/or behaviorally without impact their education due to a disability. Some students struggle socially such as family or environmental issues. Please again consider revising social social workers working with only special education students. We do so much more!

Currently, SW must complete 45 hours to obtain their LMSW - to put the extra burden of an ADDITIONAL 75 hours that are "educational" related makes little to no sense. Social Workers focus on socio-emotional, behavioral, and mental health concerns. We are NOT experts in education - other than helping students with the barriers to access the curriculum. Why there is a need for more training makes no sense. No other professional is required to have competing professional development requirements. In addition, there are social workers in our schools who work with students identified as requiring special education and those who do not. There are also school social workers who only work with general education students - why put a barrier between the two? It is obvious that those making these recommended changes have little to no experience in the schools and see what staff have to deal with. Educational trainings have little to nothing to do with what SW do on a day-to-day basis in the school. I vehemently oppose these changes.

Requiring SSWs to acquire and track SCECHs on TOP of our CEUs places an unnecessary burden on social workers. We are already required to obtain our Master's, pass a licensure exam, and maintain our license by obtaining specific CEUs requested by the licensing board. This rule is being requested by someone who by no doubt has no idea regarding the day to day demands of a social worker. I respectfully ask you to reconsider.

Social workers are already highly educated and require a lot of CEU to maintain licenses. Forcing an additional 75 hours of training is unreasonable and way too expensive.

Michigan is in dire need of school social workers. The proposed changes only create more barriers to fulfilling those vacant job roles by making it harder for social workers to meet the State's requirements. Social workers should not be financially penalized by having to pay more just to do their job nor should they have additional CE requirements to fulfill their duties. Special education is an extremely difficult field as it is. Adding more requirements will deter social workers entirely. We are underpaid, deal with the most intense needs under restrictions and laws that don't have our students best interests in mind. We have no caseload limits and are expected to evaluate AND service an unlimited number of students while being available for crisis intervention AND somehow manage to complete additional training requirements? What does education based training mean? Most social workers that I know are taking classes specifically to meet mental health/behavioral needs for students in schools and/or the latest classroom behavior management strategies to then educate our educators. Our special education system and even general education system is broken. These changes are only going to prevent schools from filling already difficult to fill vacancies in a post-pandemic society where our children- our future- are facing behavior and mental health crisis at unprecedented rates.

Q9. * Please enter your comments below. When applicable, please reference the specific sections of the rule that are objectionable and/or require modification.

The proposed rule change regarding differentiating between "school social workers" as the only ones working with special education students and being required to pay for and keep track of 75 educational CEs in addition to our regular LMSW CE payments and requirements, will result in no one wanting to be a "school social worker" anymore working with special education. You will not be paid more and the workload as well as requirements are too great and will now be very unreasonable, unfair, and unwanted.

Re- R340.1004: It seems unfair and unnecessary that school social workers should have to complete 45 hours of CE in a 3 year cycle (plus 3 additional hours for Implicit Racial Bias which we now have to also pay for each cycle) in addition to keeping track of and/or paying for 75 other credits within 5 years. I am strongly opposed to this change and I think most social workers are unaware of the proposed change and will also be upset once they learn of this. Not only is this a burden to our time but also will add a financial burden for a profession which already experiences financial burden. I am begging you not to implement this additional requirement.

Re- R340.1004: It seems unfair and unnecessary that school social workers should have to complete 45 hours of CE in a 3 year cycle (plus 3 additional hours for Implicit Racial Bias which we now have to also pay for each cycle) in addition to keeping track of and/or paying for 75 other credits within 5 years. I am strongly opposed to this change and I think most social workers are unaware of the proposed change and will also be upset once they learn of this. Not only is this a burden to our time but also will add a financial burden for a profession which already experiences financial burden. I am begging you not to implement this additional requirement.

Social workers are required to maintain licensure, which includes credits about schools, continually until they let their license expire. In other words, we are already required to get yearly credits (while also proving we are getting them), in the event of an audit from LARA. I don't find it reasonable or acceptable to put this extra burden on already overwhelmed and understaffed school social work departments. If a district deems a social worker (whom they hired) in need of extra training, that's on them to provide the individual support and plan to make that a reality. Otherwise, again, your putting an additional burden on a profession that carries plenty. Lastly, we are an aging profession, and I feel this will expedite retirements to an extent that will leave lasting affects.

If this information is accurate it is above and beyond what we need (and not free of charge) to work as a school social worker. We are struggling to fill the roles of ssw in our schools. This change, if accurate will make filling those positions less likely.

This change of earning 75 additional continuing Ed credits on top of the 45 that we already need for our license creates a hardship for school social workers. This position is already at a great need and will cause us to have more difficulty filling school social work positions. Continuing education credits also are not free.

As a school social worker I appreciate the time and attention being given to examining the rules for School Social Work. It is my hope that while districts could hire any Master's level Social Worker, one with a unique understanding of school culture and climate would be preferred. At the very least it is my hope that school districts would strongly encourage collaboration between administrators, school social workers, and any other social workers hired in order to best serve the community's children.

I believe that the term "school Social Worker" should apply to those who work in general education solo. General education social workers who work in schools need to understand the special education process so that they know when and how to access those who might need special education services.

Q9. * Please enter your comments below. When applicable, please reference the specific sections of the rule that are objectionable and/or require modification.

Note: I had written this in the Comments during the April 9 meeting, but I had a typo: I have two comments: Regarding the proposed School Social Work Certification Code Changes There are a number of school social workers right now in Public Schools that are concerned about the lack of professional recognition of the term "school social worker" for those social workers who do not have a special education caseload, but service only students in general education. For general education students, there is a concern that either non-trained school-related social workers or other student staff will be brought in to service students without the understanding, training and/or expertise that school social workers provide. This might lead to inappropriate services being provided for students and/or possibly a lack of recognition of when special educations might be needed. Additionally, we are concerned about non-qualified social work personnel (or others without appropriate credentials) being used for eligibility consideration for eligibility other than ASD and EI.

I strongly oppose the proposed addition of 75 education-related professional learning hours as a new requirement school social workers because this will even further deter social workers who are your licensed mental health professionals to consider working in school /educational settings. Having to pay for and spend more time learning about educational information after already getting a masters plus degree and staying up to date with relevant mental health field related training and on going education already requires a lot. This proposed new requirement is irrelevant to our field given our background and work with students. Is this proposed to schools occupational and physical therapists as well? Our district has been short 4 social workers all year. The schools need to consider ways to gain and retain professionals not add another unnecessary hurdle.
